Maui or the Valley Isle, is the 2nd largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The island of Maui was actually formed by two separate volcanoes, one being Mt. Haleakala which is the worlds largest dormant volcano. Maui has an amazing 42 miles of beaches with white, gold, black, red, green, garnet or salt and pepper coloured sand. Although the Big Island has almost twice as much coastline as the other Hawaiian Islands combined, Maui has more swimmable beach than any other Hawaiian island. Stand astride your bike watching the sunrise from Haleakala Crater before riding down rugged slopes with like-minded adrenalin junkies.

Kauai is the oldest island in the Hawaiian chain and often called the Garden Isle because of its endless beauty. It is a place as close to the Garden of Eden as one can find. Perhaps the sculptural masterpiece is the Na Pali Coast accessible only by boat, helicopter or foot. Here the scenery is so magnificent it defies description. The only thing that can compare to the natural beauty of this island is the beauty of the people of Kaua'i with their genuine friendliness and spirit of Aloha. Not only is this island destination treasured for its lush tropical greenery but for its sparkling sand beaches. Kauai has been the backdrop for some of the most popular movies of our time including Jurassic Park, South Pacific, Raiders of the Lost Ark, Blue Hawaii, Six Days-Seven Nights, and many more. Visitors to the island worship not only its postcard-perfect beauty, but Kauai's diversity of cultures, activities, shopping, and dining.
